

or them seem to enjoy dipping in the water, particularly the boys. I want to say, in answer to some criticism, that the overflowing of the park could not have been prevented.

To Protect Health.
"No special arrangements have been made by this department to take care of the situation that may be expected to develop following the flood, and will not be considered until after the commissioners meet today," said Leon Menden of the municipal health department. "I will say, however, that crude oil in sufficient quantities will be turned into all pools of water remaining after the flood waters recede to prevent, if possible, an epidemic of typhus, and a general clean-up campaign will be inaugurated at the same time. In past years there was not much sickness following spring floods, which come almost annually."

The flood area in the city extends from the waterworks and the stockyards on the west to Walnut Park addition and the state fair grounds on the east. As the fair grounds the low tract located in the southern part, embracing three or four acres, is flooded to a depth of three to four feet. It was formerly the bed of the river.

The police department is today besieged with calls for boats which persons in the flooded district would employ in removing their household effects from their partially submerged homes. City officials are of the opinion that the rains of last night will not affect the river at this point, as the flood area extended from this city eastward, and no heavy precipitation has occurred west and northwest of the city in the past forty-eight hours.

Stockyards Busy.
J. W. S. Hutchings, general manager of the Oklahoma National stockyards, effected an impression which he said had spread and which conveyed the idea that the stockyards was out of commission. This, he declared, was very much in error.

"The market is open for, in effect, and needs shipments the same as usual," Mr. Hutchings said. "The stockyards are doing business just as though there were no flood. Shipments can come into us and be handled right along. The railroads are taking care of the situation and we are working for our business to continue normal. I'm very sorry the impression got out that we were at a standstill. We want livestock."

The American flag, which stood in the longed applause.

Governor Glynn predicted the election of President Wilson and the delegates rose and cheered.

Refuse to Be Quieted.
When the speakers, including Glynn, sought quiet, the delegates were determined to have it out, the demonstration gradually arising. Further attempts to stop the demonstration were answered by renewed cheering.

Glynn pounded his gavel, trying to silence, and everybody talked.

After sixteen minutes quiet was restored and Mr. Glynn proceeded.

LIQUID POISON CAUSED END OF MARIAN LAMBERT

WATKINIAN, Ill., June 14.—Dr. John L. Taylor, coroner, testified today at the trial of Will H. Orpet for the alleged murder of Marian Lambert, that the crystals of potassium which caused death were taken in liquid form. He based this statement on the fact that stains of the poison on Miss Lambert's person were sediment and not cyanide in crystal form.

This point was regarded as important by the state in connection with the charge that young Orpet, a student of the University of Wisconsin, bought a two-ounce bottle from Charles Haysinger, a friend, in the drug business at Madison, Wis. The defense, it is said, will contend that Miss Lambert brought the crystals in crystal form with her, which was wrapped in a piece of paper.

Each to the amount of $1.25 for the license has been collected.

I paid telephone bills for the month of June are not due. If not paid by 5 p. m. of the 15th, service will be discontinued. Pioneer Tel. & Tel. Co.—Adv.

Baker Uses Wilson's Plank as Pillow to Guard Against Leak

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 14.—Secretary Baker, who arrived here Tuesday night with the planks of the democratic platform drafted by President Wilson himself, has taken extra precautions to prevent the loss of the documents in his custody from reaching the public before his departure to the committee. So cautious was he on his way west that he took the papers from his traveling bag and kept them under the pillows of his berth while he slept.
